Serving the Orlando Area since 2010.

Meet Chad

Chad admits to being a true yearbook nerd at heart. Advisers rave about his service and willingness to support their staff beyond expectations. He makes a substantial contribution to not only education and production but also to staff morale and recognition. His individual incentives for his staffs demonstrate his desire for their success.

In 2014 Chad obtained the JEA Certified Journalism Educator endorsement (CJE). Read more about what that means by clicking here.

As an avid runner, he confesses that marathons run close to yearbook in the amount of planning and production it takes to complete either one.
